Nikiski junior overcomes two major knee injuries to become 3A's top player

By Jeremiah Bartz
Frontiersman.com

A torn anterior cruciate ligament can be devastating for a basketball player. Bethany Carstens suffered the injury not just once, but twice.

And that didn't stop the Nikiski junior. Carstens worked her way back from both injuries, and is now recognized as one of the top players in the state. Carstens has been named the Knight's Taxidermy/Alaska Association of Basketball Coaches 3A Girls Player of the Year.

"Typically you have one injury like that and you're not the same player," Nikiski head coach Scott Anderson said recently. "One of the most impressive things about her is she's come back, trained, and made herself a pretty amazing player."

In just two seasons of high school basketball, Carstens has scored more than 1,000 total points for the Bulldogs. But she had to work through recovering from a major knee injury twice before she put herself in position to reach the milestone. Carstens suffered her first injury prior to her freshman season at Nikiski. As a sophomore, Carstens helped Nikiski established itself as one of the top 3A girls' basketball programs in the state during the 2016-17 season. The Bulldogs were among the contenders for a state title, but on the second day of the Southcentral Conference Championships, Carstens tore the ACL in her other knee. Anderson said the second injury could have derailed Carstens, but her determination wouldn't allow it.

"After the second one, I was shocked at how fast she got back," Anderson said.

Anderson said Carstens' drive and work ethic allowed her to return from the injury faster than expected.

"It comes back to home much she puts into it," Anderson said.

She has the skills. She has the athletic ability. But the work ethic sets her apart Anderson said.

Carstens played in 50 games entering the 2018 conference tournament. She averaged 20.3 points per game as a junior regular season, identical to her average as a sophomore. She also averaged 5.1 rebounds, 4 steals and 3 assists a game. In 50 career games, Carstens has 1,015 points, 390 rebounds, 201 steals and 151 assists.

NORTH SLOPE CHAMPIONS AGAINST TOBACCO USE AND ALCOHOL ABUSE

The Barrow Whaler basketball teams, football team and volleyball team, along with the Tikigaq Harpoonerettes basketball team have joined the North Slope Borough's Prevention Program to become proud tobacco and alcohol abuse prevention champions of the North Slope. They took on the responsibility of being role models to our communities by choosing not to use tobacco or alcohol products and promoting positive, healthy lifestyles.

- Cancer is one of the leading causes of death in the North Slope Region, 1 in 4 diagnosed cancers is lung cancer.
- Cigarettes, chewing and e-cigarettes are all dangerous to your health.
- Alcohol abuse contributes to many injuries, violence and health issues our communities face, be a part of the solution and not the problem.
- 78% of Alaskan teens don't drink!

Congratulations to all the North Slope sports teams that have worked their way to state.

For more information, call the Prevention Program at (907) 855-8501 or if you are interesting in quitting tobacco, call the Alaska Quitline at 1-800-QUIT-NOW (1-800-784-8669).

3A boys first team includes a pair of UAA recruits

By Jeremiah Bartz
Frontiersman.com

Athletes from Anchorage, the Interior and the north coast are represented on the 3A boys' first-team list. But two of them will share at home at UAA next fall.

A pair of Seawolves recruits — Grace Christian senior Tobin Karlberg and Barrow senior Travis Adams — have been named to the first-team of the Knight's Taxidermy/Alaska Association of Basketball Coaches 3A Boys All-State Team.

Karlberg, who was also named the 3A Boys Player of the Year for the second straight season, committed to UAA in November.

"We are excited that Tobin has chosen to join the Seawolf family," UAA head coach Rusty Osborne said in a press release issued by the university. "He is not only an outstanding player, he is a tremendously mature young man with excellent leadership qualities."

Karlberg was also named the Gatorade Alaska Boys Basketball Player of the Year after averaging 20.1 points, 4.3 steals and 3.9 assists through the first 25 games of his season. Last week, Karlberg led Grace to a win over Anchorage Christian School in the Southcentral Conference title game. Three days after announcing the signing of Karlberg, UAA announced Adams had inked an intent to play for the Seawolves. Adams enters the 2018 3A state tournament with more than 1,500 career points. This season Adams is averaging 14.6, 5.3 assists and 4.5 assists per game. The 5-foot-10 point guard helped Barrow earn a 3A state title as a freshman and a sophomore.

"Travis is a true point guard with not only basketball skills, but the intangibles of a winner," Osborne said of Adams in a release. "He understands that success of the team is what matters most."

UAA landed an Alaska player of the year for the second straight year. Former Ninilchik standout Austin White, a UAA freshman, was 1A's top player last year. UAA also featured Alaskans Eric Jenkins (Dimond), Ryan Trailer (Bartlett), Alex Adams (South) and Kylan Osborne (Dimond) on the 2017-18 squad.

Local standout nets chance to play college basketball in Colorado

By Jeremiah Bartz
Frontiersman.com

WASILLA — As Azlynn Brandenburg worked through the recruiting process, her older sister, Kasara, a former college basketball player, had some valuable advice.

“She really helped me write a pros and cons list to pick the school, and to realize to not just to focus on the basketball aspect of the school,” Brandenburg said. “You spend so much time there. Be clear it’s a place you want to be.”

For Brandenburg, that place is Grand Junction, Colorado. Brandenburg, who helped the Wasilla Warriors earn back-to-back 4A state girls’ basketball titles as a sophomore and junior, will play for Division II Colorado Mesa University next year.

But before she makes the move to the Centennial State, Brandenburg will help her team make a run at the 4A three-peat.

The senior standout has also been named first-team on the Knight’s Taxidermy/Alaska Association of Basketball Coaches 4A Girls All-State Team.

“I think she really stepped up this year,” Wasilla head coach Jeannie Hebert-Truax said. “She had to step up and take over some games.”

Brandenburg said she was able to visit the Grand Junction campus, and that helped her make her final decision.

“I felt like I went to a place I could see myself living past the college years,” Brandenburg said. “I really felt comfortable there.”

The standout shooting guard said she did consider UAA. “The only reason it was a tough decision is UAA has such a good basketball program,” she said.

But all along, Brandenburg said she hoped to venture outside of her home state.

“I really like traveling, experiencing new places,” Brandenburg said.

Brandenburg, a varsity starter since her freshman season with the Warriors, has had the opportunity to play with youth traveling basketball teams since about the seventh grade. During the summer prior to her freshman season, Brandenburg started to appear on coaches’ radar.

“It was a really good trip. Traveled for a month, got a lot of interest from college coaches,” Brandenburg said. Coaches continued to have interest. UAA and Western Oregon were among the Division II schools. Brandenburg said she was also recruited by Division I programs, but the opportunities were mostly invitations to walk on rather than scholarship offers. Throughout the process, Brandenburg worked for the scholarship.

Brandenburg, who currently attends Mat-Su Middle College School, said Mesa is a fit academically. While she said she’s not 100 percent sure, Brandenburg may opt to double-major in both business and psychology. She hopes to have her own wellness center in the future. Mesa also presents the chance for Brandenburg to hit the court early in her basketball career.

“They really made it seem like I’ll help the program,” Brandenburg said. “I want to go into the program helping it. There’s a lot of potential for playing time.”

Palmer senior leaves program as team's all-time leading scorer

By Jeremiah Bartz
Frontiersman.com

Longtime Alaska basketball coach Chuck Martin could make the argument that Palmer standout Clayton Southwick was cursed and blessed during his senior season.

"It's a curse we expect so much out of him," Martin, Palmer's head coach, said recently. "For us to (be successful) Clayton has to be fabulous. But he's got to make his teammates better. Some kids embrace that."

But there's the blessing.

"He continues to work. He's a joy to coach," Martin said. "The two things — he's big, he's talented. And he loves to play. He likes being coached. To have a kid this talented who wanted to be coached, who wants to win, you can't ask for much more from that as a player."

Southwick, who leaves the Palmer boys basketball program as the most prolific scorer in school history, has once again been recognized for his efforts. A week after winning Northern Lights Conference Player of the Year honors for the second time, Southwick has been named first-team on the Knight's Taxidermy/Alaska Association of Basketball Coaches 4A Boys All-State team for the second straight year.

Southwick, a four-time first-team All-NLC selection, ruled in just about every statistical category. The 6-foot-7 all-around star scored more than 1,700 points in his career, a school record, but also finished with 760 rebounds and 302 assists in four years.

"He's just a very talented kid who wants to get better, and loves to play," Martin said. "He's made a tremendous impact for four years."

Southwick amassed the 1,700 career points, but Martin said statistics were never the focus for Southwick.

"Clayton really wants his team to do well," Martin said. "His greatest characteristic, he doesn't care about anything but winning."
